Our City Comment & discussion

by THOMAS D. WATSON

Every Ticket for Benefit Show Must Be Sold Before 5 p. m. Tomorrow

ACCORDING to latest reports nearly one hundred tickets for the Glendale Fire Victims' benefit remain unsold.

Our citizens must go on record as to supporting this worthwhile benefit one hundred per cent.

The entire seven hundred and sixty-three seats must be filled. This means all tickets must be sold between now and tomorrow night for there are absolutely to be no free seats.

Up to the present time our readers have heartily supported every project we have recommended to them.

SURELY there are one hundred out of our thirty thousand readers who have not yet purchased tickets but who are financially able to do so. Every family in Glendale that can afford one ticket should be represented at the performance. Maybe we have not said the right word to convince you of our city's obligation. If not we are sorry for we are standing absolutely back of the proposition without any reservation of any kind.

WE know that every one connected with the performance is doing everything possible for it without any hope or desire for reward outside of the knowledge that he or she has aided a project that is worth while at all angles.

We still have some tickets at our office and if not convenient for you to call for them we will be glad to deliver them to you. You will never spend five dollars in a better way than by purchasing a ticket. How many will do it?

GLENDALE moved up to fifth place among Southern California cities in building activity for October with a record of $805,506. In September, Glendale stood ninth among the cities of the entire state, with San Diego and Alhambra of Southern California ahead. Glendale stood eighth in California cities in building permits for the first nine months and while our standing for the first ten months of the year is still eighth, we have gained on San Diego until we are only $144,606 behind it. Barring accidents Glendale by the first of December will pass San Diego, which city now stands seventh and with good luck will also pass Sacramento which now stands in sixth place.

IF THIS PROVES to be a reality, Glendale will have ahead of her only cities whose populations run from one hundred thousand up and will have many cities of one hundred thousand below her. November gives promise of big things for we know of at least two projected enterprises whose permits alone will amount to at least one half a million dollars.

JOHN D. JR., SAYS LOVE AND BUSINESS CAN'T MIX

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—John D. Rockefeller Jr., is convinced that "the doctrine of love is applicable to business life."

Speaking yesterday to the Park Avenue Baptist church Bible class of which he is honorary president, he drew on his business experiences to illustrate the chapter from St. Paul upon brotherly love, summing up his theme with words: "If I have these many things, and I have not love, it profits me nothing."

"Only where service to others is considered first and profits secondly, can business reach its highest success," he told his audience of 250. "If I had ever questioned the importance of love in the unfortunate industrial tangle arising with the Colorado coal miners, many years ago, I don't think anything would have come out of the conferences. There was much bitterness. Things were at a standstill. It was through love, the understanding between man and man, that we reached a solution."

"The world war," he added, "seemed to have proved that the force was the significant thing in life."

LAST SURVIVOR OF CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE?

(By Associated Press) CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Nov. 5.—Ellis Cutting, a railroad employe, who believes that he is the last survivor of the light brigade, whose charge was immortalized by Tennyson's poem, yesterday celebrated his 87th birthday.

At the time of the charge of the light brigade against the Russians at Balaklava, October 25, 1854, Mr. Cutting was 18 years of age.

KING HEROD WAS TROUBLED AND ALL JERUSALEM WITH HIM WHEN HE HEARD THIS

So Reads the Fascinating Story of Jesus' Birth, According to Matthew's Gospel, as Translated by Prof. Edgar J. Goodspeed

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW

THE ancestry of Jesus Christ, who was descended from David, who was descended from Abraham.

Abraham was the father of Isaac, and Isaac of Jacob, and Jacob of Judah and his brothers, and Judah of Perez and Zerah, whose mother was Tamar. And Perez was the father of Hezron, and Hezron of Aram, and Aram of Aminadab, and Aminadab of Nahshon, and Nahshon of Salmon, and Salmon of Boaz, whose mother was Rahab. And Boaz was the father of Obed, whose mother was Ruth. And Obed was the father of Jesse, and Jesse of King David.

David was the father of Solomon, whose mother was Uriah's wife. And Solomon was the father of Rehoboam, and Rehoboam of Abijah, and Abijah of Asa, and Asa of Jehoshaphat, and Jehoshaphat of Joram, and Joram of Uzziah, and Uzziah of Jotham, and Jotham of Ahaz, and Ahaz of Hezekiah, and Hezekiah of Manasseh, and Manasseh of Amon, and Amon of Josiah, and Josiah of Jeconiah and his brothers, at the period of the Babylonian Exile.

After the Babylonian Exile, Jeconiah had a son named Shealtiel, and Shealtiel was the father of Zerubbabel, and Zerubbabel of Abiud, and Abiud of Eliakim, and Eliakim of Azor, and Azor of Zadok, and Zadok of Achim, and Achim of Eliud, and Eliud of Eleazar, and Eleazar of Matthan, and Matthan of Jacob, and Jacob of Joseph, the husband of Mary, who was the mother of Jesus called Christ.

So the whole number of generations from Abraham to David is fourteen, and from David to the Babylonian Exile, fourteen, and from the Babylonian Exile to the Christ, fourteen.

HOW these were the circumstances of the birth of Jesus Christ. Mary, his mother, was engaged to Joseph, but before they were married it was found that she was about to become a mother through the influence of the holy Spirit. But her husband, Joseph, was an upright man and did not wish to disgrace her, and he decided to break off the engagement privately. But while he was thinking of doing this, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, and said, "Joseph, descendant of David, do not fear to take Mary, your wife, to your home, for it is through the influence of the holy Spirit that she is to become a mother. She will have a son, and you are to name him Jesus, for it is he who is to save his people from their sins."

All this happened in fulfillment of what the Lord said through the prophet.

"The maiden will be pregnant and will have a son, And they will name him Immanuel"

—a word which means "God with us." So when Joseph awoke from his sleep, he did as the angel of the Lord had directed him, and took his wife to his home. But he did not live with her as a husband until she had had a son, and he named the child Jesus.

Now after the birth of Jesus at Bethlehem in Judea, in the days of King Herod, astrologers from the east arrived at Jerusalem, and asked,

"Where is the newly born king of the Jews? For we have seen his star rise and we have come to do homage to him."

CITY'S FREE HOTEL HAS MANY INMATES

"Full house" this morning described the condition of "the municipal hotel" at the city hall.

After the automobile in which they were riding had gone over the curb at Maryland and Harvard and broken both front wheels upon a tree about 4 o'clock this morning, Don Millan and J. R. Cook, both of Los Angeles, were taken into custody. Mr. Millan was charged with reckless driving and Mr. Cook with being intoxicated.

John C. Clogston of Pasadena was another guest. He was brought in by Lawrence C. McGinnis of Pasadena into whose automobile he is alleged to have crashed while intoxicated. Mr. McGinnis was parked on Colorado street at the time of the collision. Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, pronounced Mr. Clogston under the influence of liquor.

No court is being held today owing to the fact that Judge Frank H. Lowe is not quite recovered from an appendectomy. The bench will be occupied tomorrow by Judge Kenneth Newell of Pasadena.

WEATHER

(By Associated Press) Southern California; fair to night and Tuesday; moderate northwesterly winds.

HOPES MANY WILL BE LED TO READ THE HOLY BIBLE

REV. W. E. EDMONDS, Pastor Glendale First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Goodspeed's translation of the Scriptures will no doubt be read with much interest, and may become very popular with the masses. It must be understood, however, that the Bible is the original tongue is the only Divinely Inspired Word, and should be accepted as the only infallible rule of faith and practice. "Knowing this first that no prophecy of the Scripture is of any private interpretation, for the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man, but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost."

The Daily Press is to be commended for a practical effort to bring the Sacred Scriptures to the public's attention day by day, and if this presentation shall lead to a more thorough study of the King James version, added good will then be accomplished.

CREDIT MEN STILL URGES CLOSING OF STORES, NOV. 12

The Credit Men's association at its noon luncheon meeting today again urged the merchants to close on Monday, Nov. 12, in honor of Armistice Day.

It was stated that the local American Legion post urged the committee of the Credit Men's association to do all in its power to influence this action. The opinion prevailed that the chain stores would stay open was dispelled to some extent when Manager Tolman stated that the Glendale Chaffee store would be closed all day. The other chain stores have not as yet announced their plans for Armistice Day.

DINNER PARTY BY EASTERN STARS HAPPY EVENT

One of the happy events for the present officers of the Glen Eyrle chapter, Order of the Eastern Stars, was the dinner party given by the worthy matron and worthy patron, Mildred Irene Lyon and Harry Le Roy Reid, on Saturday night at Masonic Temple, Glendale. The officers and their husbands and escorts assembled, dressed as children. The various costumes caused a great deal of merriment and were very clever and original.

At 7 o'clock 35 guests were seated at a large round table which had for a centerpiece a large yellow artificial rose, in the heart of which reposed a doll dressed in white. Numerous streamers in the pastel shades extended from the centerpiece to the edge of the table. Tops and puzzles, as well as favors containing handkerchiefs, were at the places. At the close of the dinner Mrs. J. E. Phillips in a very appropriate speech presented Miss Lyon with a handsome pink ostrich fan. Miss Lyon responded and presented each of the ladies with a bud vase. Various contests were then staged, including that of spinning tops, the prize being awarded to the person whose top spun the longest. Then the bughouse puzzle was used and an appropriate prize, a mechanical bug, was awarded. Following the dinner the guests were arranged on the platform for a flashlight picture. While waiting for this each one gave a stunt. The prize for the best stunt was awarded to J. E. Phillips. Mrs. Matthew Dewar won the prize for the rope-skipping contest. A prize was also given for the gentlemen's one-legged race, which was won by Captain Thomas D. Watson.

Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, dressed as Sis Hopkins, was awarded the prize for the best costume. The merry party joined hands in a circle around the table and played drop the handkerchief. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Patrolman Joseph H. Renroy, trying to clear a street of traffic for the passage of fire department apparatus early today, was struck by an automobile and killed. The driver of the car, William H. Thompson, a negro, was charged with manslaughter.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 5.—Fears were expressed by marine men here today that the gasoline boats Agram and Onyx, were lost in storms that in the past month have smitten Cook Inlet. The Agram was overdue October 11 at Seldovia on the inlet and October 23, the Onyx was sent to search for the Agram. No word has been received from either.

POLICE RECOVER STOLEN CHEVROLET TOURING CAR

A Chevrolet touring car belonging to G. Soley of 1225 East Colorado street, which was stolen Saturday night, was recovered yesterday morning by the police department.

BURBANK STATE BANK HELD UP TODAY

Lone Bandit Shows Gun, Demands and Gets $2700 in Bills

One of the most sensational daylight bank holdups in the San Fernando valley occurred this morning in Burbank.

While the Burbank State bank at 227 West San Fernando boulevard was crowded with patrons, about 10:30, a bandit, using the alias of Lee Cordes, quietly held up M. J. Kurten, teller and departed hurriedly with $2740 in currency. He was observed to get into a Ford sedan and turn off San Fernando boulevard enroute to Universal City.

As soon as possible a posse was organized and started in pursuit. While an automobile driven by Charles Lohman of 219 West San Fernando was close behind, the highwayman turned into the Universal "lot." After a short argument, he was placed under arrest put a hole through your eye and I will give you my buddy the money so if him or me gets caught you die for I will stay outside 30 minutes so if the alarm before 30 min. I'll get you."

Mr. Kurten then observed that the man clutched a .41 calibre single action Colt. This was partially concealed under the lower portion of the coat to his blue suit and, owing to the sides to the window, could not be observed by anyone else in the bank lobby. As the revolver was pointed directly at him, Mr. Kurten admitted that he felt somewhat nervous—especially as the sandy-complexioned man holding it had several scars upon his face and did not look any too amiable. He hastened to comply with his request and, dipping into a drawer at the right of the window, he placed several bundles of bank notes, mostly of one-dollar denomination, upon the counter. He then turned around as instructed.

At least 15 persons were in the bank when the holdup occurred. While it was in progress, business went on as usual at the other windows. It was not until the episode was over that patrons realized that anything unusual had taken place. The Burbank police department is being given credit by those familiar with the circumstances for its efficiency. Lieutenant "Bill" Gates responded to an emergency call and a police Dodge was close behind the fleeing bandit. Motorcycle Officer H. E. Young also was among those who assisted in the capture.

As the stolen money was found in his possession and he was identified by Mr. Kurten, the bandit was unable to conceal his identity. It is understood that he formerly was an employe of Universal City.

MRS. ELLIS OF POSTOFFICE FORCE ON AUTO TRIP

Mrs. H. B. Ellis of 281 1/2 North Brand boulevard is now enroute to San Francisco with friends upon a motor trip. She expected to be gone about two weeks. Her position in the postoffice, where she is secretary to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, is being filled by Miss Catherine McAvlin of Los Angeles.

FIRST LEGION BASKET BALL GAME TONIGHT

Post 127 of the American Legion will have its first basketball game of the season tonight in the boys' gymnasium at the high school when a Legion team will clash with a team from the Standard Oil company.

"CANNOT ENSLAVE A PEOPLE," GLADSTONE

REV. ERNEST E. FORD, Pastor Glendale First Baptist Church.

Gladstone once said, "You cannot enslave a Bible-reading people." In these days the Bible is often neglected. I am greatly pleased that you are to print as a serial the most fascinating story in the world in your daily paper. While I have not read Dr. Goodspeed's translation of the New Testament, I shall be very glad to do so as it comes to me in your paper. I want to speak my appreciation of the move, and of my delight, in having something in the columns of the Daily Press that will be an uplift to all who read and that is bound to do a large amount of good. I hope it will lead to the reading of the old, told story around many fireplaces.

ADDITIONAL P. E. BUS SERVICE TO START TUESDAY

There will be five Pacific Electric buses in operation in Glendale and one emergency bus, beginning with Tuesday, November 6, according to word received this morning from the Pacific Electric news bureau. There will be two buses on line No. 1, two on line No. 2 and one on line No. 3.

Line No. 1 will be extended east on Broadway to Verdugo road and west on Maple to Adams. On the west end of the same line, instead of operating north on Pacific to Doran, the bus will turn east at Broadway and operate to Brand.

Line No. 2 will operate between Broadway and Verdugo road, Grand View and Kenneth road, by way of Broadway and Brand. All three lines will operate to and from Broadway and Brand. Transfers will be issued at that point to and from the Pacific Electric line. This schedule will be effective on Tuesday morning. The first bus leaving Cypress and Brand going east on Line No. 1 will be at 5:51 a. m. The first bus leaving Cypress and Brand going west on line No. 1 will leave at 5:53 a. m. The first bus leaving Broadway and Brand on Line No. 2 going to Grand View and Kenneth road will leave at 6 a. m. The first bus leaving Broadway and Brand on Line No. 2 going to Broadway and Verdugo leaves at 6:05. The first bus leaving San Fernando and Doran on Line No. 3 for Broadway and Brand will leave at 5:45 a. m.

There will be a bus leaving Cypress and Brand in each direction on line No. 1 and a bus at Broadway and Brand for Grand View and Kenneth road, also for San Fernando road and Doran street, to connect with the 5 o'clock train out of Los Angeles. Buses will be run about every 30 minutes on each line.

BILL HART SENDS CHARACTERISTIC REGRET LETTER

Bill Hart, Hollywood film star, has expressed his regret at being unable to be present at the big benefit show next Tuesday evening. His letter follows:

"Dear Louise Dresser: "It is with the keenest regret that I am obliged to say that I can not appear Tuesday evening. I'm working night and day to get a picture finished and I'm all bungled up with a cold so that I really ought to be in bed."

"I am enclosing check for $25 for one seat. I'm sorry that I cannot be there. I understand Bill Rogers is going to talk and Will is some talker."

"Sincerely yours,

"(Signed) BILL HART."

"P. S. This does not mean that anyone can believe what Bill Rogers says!"

TIRE SNATCHERS ARE GETTING VERY BOLD

"Tire snatchers" are getting altogether too bold in the opinion of T. Saunders of 633 West Broadway. While his machine was parked in front of his home early Saturday night some one jacked up the rear and removed a tire and rim.

PROGRAM OF BENEFIT ENTERTAINMENT IS NOW COMPLETELY MADE UP

Twenty-five Film Stars Who Gladly Give Their Services, Will Each Contribute to Making This Entertainment Wonderful Success

LIONEL BELMORE TO INTRODUCE OTHERS

Kelly's Shrine Orchestra to Play and Mayor Spencer Robinson Will Speak a Word of Thanks to the Great Hearted Volunteers

Below is the complete program of tomorrow night's big benefit entertainment for the dependents of the fire heroes, insofar as it is being given out; the "stunts" of the many noted film stars who so eagerly volunteered their services being kept secret so as to be sprung as surprises. That they all will be great, is assured by the high standing of these volunteers.

The Kelly Shrine Orchestra will play at the opening of the entertainment and at different times during the evening.

A word of thanks to all who have aided in any way will be voiced by Mayor Spencer Robinson, who will then introduce Lionel Belmore as master of ceremonies. Mr. Belmore will then introduce in turn, though not in the order given, the following noted film stars, each of whom will contribute some act:

Will Rogers, Clara Kimball Young, Milton Sills, Agnes Ayres, Bill Desmond, Viola Dana, George Melford, Shirley Mason, Ernest Torrence, Ruth Roland, Lew Cody, Wanda Hawley, Herbert Rawlinson, Jacqueline Logan, Arthur Stuart Hull, Mischel, the boy wonder, Lucille Cavanaugh, Charles Buck Jones, Jack Gardner, Louise Dresser.

Program distributors: Hedda Hopper, Mrs. Willard Lewis, Cleo Ridgely, Peg O'Neill, Alice Hollister. The tickets are selling fast but there are a few left which can be had at the chamber of commerce or the Daily Press will supply you, delivering them to your homes if you cannot call for them. Telephone Glendale 97 if you want one.

RESIGNATION OF BEN ROBINSON, JR., MUCH REGRETTED

Not until Saturday night did members of Troop No. 2, Boy Scouts of this city, know of the resignation of their beloved scoutmaster, Benjamin Robinson, Jr., and they were grief stricken. He has been with the troop for five years as member or official, coming into it as a first-class Scout, and was the first of its members to become an Eagle Scout. He has filled every office in the gift of the troop except that of bugler and under his inspiration the clubhouse in Verdugo Woodlands which the troop has enjoyed for two years, was built. It has just been sold to Charles Chandra for the use of all the Scout troops of the city and the money received for it is being made the nucleus of a fund for a new and finer clubhouse.

Mr. Robinson, who is the only veteran Eagle scoutmaster in the city, is chief counselor of the Troop Leaders' Round Table, and will continue to be interested in Scout work here and especially in Troop 2. He was compelled to resign because of the demands of his work in connection with the Pasadena council, which has charge of Scout work in Avalon, Catalina Island, where Mr. Robinson is Scoutmaster and clubmaster. He spends two days of the week there and two days in Pasadena at Camp Huntington.

The new scoutmaster of Troop 2 is Kenneth M. Payne, secretary of the Men's club of the Congressional church, which has been actively sponsoring the troop. Mr. Payne will be assisted by a number of men in the club and Mr. Robinson declares he will make a wonderful scoutmaster.

Ben feels that the Avalon work which is in the initial stages, is much more urgently needed than the service he could bestow in connection with the well organized Troop 2, for which a big program for the coming year has been planned. Benjamin Robinson, Sr., will continue his membership on the troop committee.

Several minor auto collisions were reported over the week end by the police department. The Glendale chapter put on the parade with Master Councilor Valentine Hollingsworth in charge. Much enthusiasm was evidenced, and it was assured that Van Nuy's chapter, Order of De Molay, was off to a flying start.

SEVERAL MINOR AUTO COLLISIONS OVER WEEK-END

Several minor auto collisions were reported over the week end by the police department. The Glendale chapter put on the parade with Master Councilor Valentine Hollingsworth in charge. THREE BOYS ARRESTED CHARGED WITH LOOTING

Cigars, cigarettes and candy comprised the principal loot stolen Saturday night from the grocery store at 812 South San Fernando road, according to information furnished the police department. For implication in this burglary three boys were arrested yesterday—Albert Hill, 4132 Parkdale avenue, 15; T. M. Satterfield, 520 South San Fernando road, 18; Arley Ward, 4001 Euclalytus avenue, 15.

GRAND OPENING OF NEW CAFE SATURDAY

There were bright lights, lots of Glendadians and laughter, and plentiful good cheer, wonderful service, good music and unsurpassed food. In fact, there was everything that was necessary to make it one of the best and most delightfully rounded out evening events ever held in Glendale.

All these things and many other delightful features marked the "how d'ye do" of the Edwards & Dennis "Chateau de Qualite," 108 East Broadway, Saturday night. The hundreds of Glendadians who attended this opening and who were served with the delightful refreshments went away entirely satisfied with the service and not in the least disappointed over the cafe in general, although many "pretty" things had previously been said about it.

This refreshment palace with its many beautiful features more than lived up to its opening announcements. It is delightfully quiet, the jazz features being entirely absent. There are just enough mirrors, just enough color, just enough lights, just enough of everything that would tend to make it a delightful place to enjoy a repast.

The soda fountain and candy counter were fully as well patronized Saturday night as was the cafe. Throughout the evening the attendants at all of these features were kept busy. The excellent service afforded and the high quality of food and refreshments provided will doubtless result in a continued patronage of this model cafe.

Expressions of surprise at the many wonderful attractive features and of entire satisfaction with the food and service were heard on every hand. Many of the leading residents of Glendale were present and they all expressed delight at the wonderful establishment provided by Messrs. Edwards and Dennis.

On the other hand the proprietors of this establishment were more than pleased at the way their offerings were received and the attendance at their formal opening. "You cannot too emphatically express our appreciation at the way the people of Glendale have received us," said Mr. Edwards. "We have tried to give the people of Glendale the very best there is in

HILLSLOPES OF BELLEHURST ARE VERY POPULAR

Exclusive hillside sites are becoming increasingly popular with home seekers and investors, according to statistics furnished by the Walter H. Leimert company of sales in Bellehurst Hillslopes.

"Bellehurst Hillslopes," Leimert said yesterday, "is attracting large crowds of buyers interested in hillside property, because it offers advantages found in no other tract now on sale in Southern California. Its fortunate location on the outward curve of the Verdugo hills at the foot of the Verdugo mountains has given it a perfect climate and matchless views to the east, south and west from almost every lot."

Leimert's wide experience in laying out beautiful hillside tracts, it is stated, has enabled him to so plan Bellehurst Hillslopes that every lot is the ideal setting for an unusual and artistic home, every lot is a challenge to the creative genius of the clever architect seeking an outlet for some cherished ideal. There is wide scope, Leimert points out, for unique and charming homes.

"It is this element of the unusual and the possibilities for wonderful landscaping that will make a strong appeal to people who are able to pay most any price," Leimert stated, "and for this reason the buyer at our low opening prices is in line for a large profit if he cares to resell."

our line, and that they appreciate our efforts is shown by the wonderful reception given us.

"Our aim is to serve the very best of foods at prices that are right. Our service will always be high class, and courtesy will be the keynote of our establishment."

"Kindly tell the folks that we thank them sincerely for the way they received us. Their patronage showed that they appreciate our efforts. We will endeavor to warrant their continued patronage."

Get Your Free Theater Ticket If One Is Due

Free theater tickets? Why, yes, if your name appears in the full page advertisement in today's Glendale Daily Press or in any Monday's issue of this paper.

Each Monday the names of about twenty of Glendale Daily Press subscribers appear in the advertisements on our theater page, and if your name is among the list all you will have to do will be to call upon the firm in whose advertisement you found your name and get your free ticket. In today's Press there are lots of free theater tickets, and the program at the T. D. & L. theater, which appears on the theater page, is one of exceptional interest. Tickets are good for about one week, and may be renewed by the owner if presented to W. L. Taylor, advertising manager of the Glendale Daily Press. Read the advertisement on this page every week. You will profit in more ways than one by so doing.

THE STORY OF JESUS' BIRTH AS TOLD BY MATTHEW—GOODSPEED VERSION

When King Herod heard of this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. So he called together all the high priests and scribes of the people and asked them where the Christ was to be born. They said, "At Bethlehem in Judea, for this is what the prophet wrote:

"And you, Bethlehem in Judah's land, You are by no means least important among the leading places of Judah. For from you will come a leader Who will be the shepherd of my people Israel."

Then Herod secretly sent for the astrologers, and found out from them the exact time when the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said to them, "Go and inquire particularly about the child, and when you have found him, bring me word, so that I may go and do homage to him too."

So they obeyed the king and went, and the star which they had seen rose led them on until it reached the place where the child was, and stopped above it. When they saw the star, they were very glad, and they went into the house and saw the child with his mother, Mary, and they threw themselves down and did homage to him. They opened their treasure boxes and presented the child with gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh. Then, as they had been divinely warned in a dream not to go back to Herod, they returned to their own country by another way.

When they were gone, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, and said,

"Wake up! Take the child and his mother and make your escape to Egypt, and stay there until I tell you to leave. For Herod is going to look for the child in order to make away with him."

Then he awoke and took the child and his mother by night and took refuge in Egypt, to fulfill what the Lord said by the prophet, "I called my son from Egypt."

Then Herod saw that he had been tricked by the astrologers, and he was very angry, and he sent and made away with all the boys in Bethlehem and in all that neighborhood who were two years old or under, for that was the time he had learned from the astrologers by his inquiries. Then the saying was fulfilled which was uttered by the prophet Jeremiah,

"A cry was heard in Ramah! Weeping and great lamenting! Rachel weeping for her children, And inconsolable because they were gone."

But when Herod died, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt and said,

"Wake up! Take the child and his mother and go to the land of Israel, for those who sought the child's life are dead."

WHAT DEMOCRACY IMPLIES

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc. (Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

There is much talk today that democracy is working out badly. But is democracy itself to blame, or failure to keep in mind and vigorously apply the implications of democracy?

Democracy implies, for one thing, equal recognition of the rights of others, as compared with recognition of one's personal rights. It can scarcely be maintained that in social, business and industrial relations this implication of democracy is kept in mind and rigorously applied.

Social prejudices are visible on every side, there is a lamentable inclination in the business and industrial world to press individual and class demands at no matter what cost to the general interest. Grasp and greed, to put it frankly, are plainly evident.

Democracy implies, too, that each citizen in the democracy shall give earnest thought to political and governmental problems. How else is effective administration of affairs of state to be insured in a democracy? One has only to look about to perceive that political and governmental problems excite not even a passing thought in multitudes of people.

Their great concern is to make money or to enjoy themselves. The purchase of an automobile or of a new dress is to them a far weightier matter than the deciding of how they should vote or what opinion they should hold with regard to public policies.

Have such persons any right to complain if public affairs are not managed as they ought to be? Can they justly throw on democracy the blame for troubles which their neglect of their own duties has manifestly helped to precipitate?

And then there is the further implication of democracy that so far as is humanly possible every citizen should be fitted through proper schooling to develop his innate powers for his own good and the good of the state.

Is this implication rigorously applied to all the children of all the people? Statistics bearing on child labor on farms, in mills, in stores, in "blind alley" occupations, compel an answer in the negative.

Hundreds and hundreds of years ago that wisest of ancient philosophers, Plato, pointed unerringly to a truth the world seems strangely unwilling to learn. As paraphrased by one of Plato's commentators:

"Whereas in simple matters—like shoemaking—we think only a specially trained person will serve our purpose, in politics we presume that every one who knows how to get votes knows how to administer for a city or a state."

"When we are ill we call for a trained physician, whose degree is a guarantee of specific preparation and technical competence—we do not ask for the handsomest physician, or the most eloquent one. Well, then, when the whole state is ill should we not look for the service and guidance of the wisest and the best?"

"To devise a method of barring incompetence and knavery from public office, and of selecting and preparing the best to rule for the common good—that is the problem of political philosophy."

Neglect to make any serious effort to solve this problem may justly be alleged against the generations that have followed on another since Plato's time. Let us frankly recognize this, before we begin crying out that democracy is a failure.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

Judging from the number of entertainments planned for this month the residents of La Crescenta will be a very busy people all through November. The entertainment committee of the guild of the new church of the St. Luke's of the Mountains, announces an illustrated lecture for Thursday, November 15, at 8 p. m., at the school auditorium by Dr. Montague Cleaves, who will give his celebrated lecture, "The Builders of the Catholic Cathedrals." November 17 the La Crescenta Woman's club will give one of their popular dances. This will be a masquerade; Mrs. M. B. Darrow being hostess. November 22 the La Crescenta Woman's club will entertain with an evening of cards at the school auditorium. November 23 the Community church will give their first entertainment, a concert, in their new home on Montrose avenue. The dedication of the La Crescenta Community church on Sunday afternoon, November 18, will be an event of interest to all residents in the valley, at which Dr. Freeman of Pasadena will officiate.

One of the jolly affairs of the week-end for the younger set was a costume party, at the home of Miss Edith Karr, on West Honolulu avenue last Saturday night, when Miss Karr, Miss Marie Perkins and Miss Leona Crawell were hostesses. Games and dancing were the diversions of the evening. The guests were Misses Elizabeth and Letty Smith, Dorothy Potter, Elizabeth Martin, Virginia Fay, Helen Hartford and Helen Meyers of Los Angeles. The young hostesses were assisted by their mothers, Mesdames D. M. Karr, C. Perkins and E. Crawell.

Mr. and Mrs. Montague Glass of Pasadena were guests of Mrs. Robert Wildhack of South Los Angeles avenue at dinner last Wednesday evening.

Haverly S. Bissell left this morning for San Francisco. Mr. Bissell's visit to San Francisco is in the interest of Farm Bureau work of which organization he is the president. He will also have an interview with C. Redington, district superintendent of the forest reserve.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas of North Rosemont avenue, entertained a group of friends at supper Sunday evening, at which Mr. and Mrs. John Stephen McGroarty were the guests of honor.

The first dance of the season to be given by the La Crescenta Improvement association will be held at the school auditorium Saturday evening, December 1. A series of dancing parties will be given during the winter. The proceeds are to be used for the fire protection fund for this district.

Today marks the opening of the first hardware store in Las Crescenta to be known as the La Crescenta Hardware store, located in the Webber block on the corner of Los Angeles and Montrose avenues. E. E. Laughrey of Pasadena, an experienced hardware man, is the owner and proprietor of this store. Mr. Laughrey will carry a complete line of hardware, plumbing and gas supplies, also oil and gas ranges.

MONTROSE NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bellanger and family were the delighted honorees at a surprise party given for them on Saturday evening. Arriving at the Bellanger home in Sparr Heights at 5 o'clock, about 25 Long Beach friends took the family completely by surprise. The hosts brought with them two huge turkeys and all the "fixins" for a delicious dinner. The Bellangers were formerly of Long Beach where they had many close friends and acquaintances.

A neighborhood dance which proved particularly enjoyable to all who attended was that held in the Brig Terrace hall Saturday evening. Some of the old dances such as the Paul Jones were participated in as well as the more modern jazz. Refreshments were served. The residents of Briggs and Longview villas plan to stage these affairs at least twice each month during the winter.

Little Richard Stoner, who was quite badly hurt when he fell from the fire escape of the La Crescenta school house some days ago is so near recovered that he is able to join his playmates at school again.

Mrs. Scanlon, proprietor of the Montrose dry goods store, was among those spending the day at the beach. Mrs. Scanlon, her mother and son enjoyed Sunday at Balboa, where they have a cottage.

Mrs. Jennings of Pleasure way and Hermosa avenue is quite ill, it is reported.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stoner and family of 348 East Honolulu avenue spent Sunday at Venice, enjoying all the beach attractions.

VICTORIA, British Columbia.—Six harbors—Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster, Nanaimo, Esquimalt and Alberni—will remain under the control of the federal government, and all remaining harbors in British Columbia will be controlled by the provincial government under an agreement reached between the federal minister of marine and fisheries and the provincial government.

Events of Interest to Glendale and Its People

Miss Lois Mock of 250 North Verdugo road has returned to her position at the city hall.

Miss Amelia Bingham, formerly of 221 West Wilson, has returned from a three months' visit in the east during which she divided her time between Boston and other New England points, Indianapolis, Chicago and Milwaukee. She says that New England, her old home, never looked lovelier than in its autumn coloring which was done early this year following a sharp frost the last of August. She is now with her sister, Mrs. Payne, who is temporarily located at 112 East Chestnut street, in the Chestnut apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Lightner, who have been residents of Glendale for the past three years, left this week for Hayward, Calif., where they will make their home. Mr. Lightner has been advertising manager for Salmacia Bros., owners of the Glendale music store, the Glendale Phonograph company, and a music store at San Fernando. He was also an active salesman on the large selling force of this rapidly growing firm, and demonstrated his ability to make good in both lines. His advertising work in this particular line was far above that done by many of the big downtown stores, and he gave the advertising a punch and meaning that truly impressed the public with the fair dealings of this music firm and the quality of goods carried.

GAUL'S ATHLETES URGE AMERICANS TO PLAY RUGBY

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, Nov. 5.—French Olympic officials are greatly chagrined over the report from New York that the United States will not participate in the Olympic Rugby competition. While unwilling to discuss the circumstances leading to such a decision on the part of the American Olympic committee, members of the French organizing committee express hope that the United States will be there with a Rugby team at the finals.

They realize that American Rugby is quite different from the European game, but at the same time they recall that during the Inter-Alleied games in 1918 the American army put a team in the field that came within a few points of defeating France's best. At Antwerp in 1920, the American team also gave a very good account of itself.

"We should like America to compete, first, because we feel that Rugby is one of the best sports for the development of physical education; and second because we feel that the winner of any individual or team competition in 1924 should be universally recognized as supreme. This would not be the case for Rugby should the United States fail to compete." Thus spoke Frantz-Reichel, general secretary of the French committee.

"We earnestly desire also that Rugby be not considered as exclusively a British sport, but a game of world's expansion," Reichel went on. "The friendship and admiration which we feel toward American athletics lead us to believe that, in no matter what sport they choose to compete, their methods and the class of their athletes would bring benefit to that particular game."

"If we win the Rugby event," Reichel concluded, "we want to feel that we have defeated the best in the world, which would not be the case should America abstain. The prestige of the Olympic games demands that the United States enter every track, field and team event. I am sure we will find the boys from overseas right there when the whistle blows."

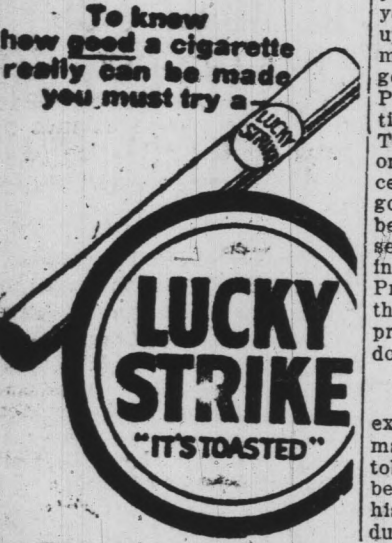

Colonel Robert M. Thompson, president of the American Olympic committee, has had several conferences with Reichel about the matter and has cabled New York that, in his opinion, the United States should send a Rugby team to France.

MID-DAY LUCH BIENNIAL BOARD BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Mrs. Winter, President
National Federation
Is the Speaker

Glendale was represented at the mid-day luncheon at which Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the National Federation of Women's clubs was the guest of honor, given in one of the private dining rooms of the Biltmore to the press women of Southern California by members of the biennial board of the National Federation of which Mrs. Frank A. Gibson, heading the department of publicity, is chairman. Covers were laid for about 75 at tables bright with flowers and smart appointments, the guest table having a bank of flowers opposite the guest of honor, and another opposite Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the district federation, and first vice chairman of the local board. At this table were seated Mrs. J. M. Sartori, Mrs. Robert Burdette, federation director for California; Mrs. Josiah Cowles, past president of the national federation, and other members of the local board.

Because the guests for the most part were very busy women with afternoon assignments to cover, the program was necessarily limited. It was opened by Mrs. Sartori who greeted Mrs. Winter and expressed the satisfaction it is to the women of Southern California to have in prospect the entertainment of the great general federation of women's club of which she is the head. She also greeted the newspaper women, voicing the indebtedness of organized clubs to their cooperation through the publicity they are able to give to the news columns of the various dailies. She introduced Mrs. Frank Gibson, present chairman of publicity, who reminisced somewhat in regard to the beginnings of Los Angeles and the beginnings of clubdom there, but who first of all introduced those members of "the old guard" of workers in the suffrage campaign who were present, Mrs. McCann, Mrs. LeVina Gray Timmons, and Mrs. Estelle Lawton Lindsey, who were asked to stand.

Mrs. Winter said some very kind things about the progressive spirit of California club women and dwelt on the tremendous influence which the non-partisan, non-sectarian, non-political body of women represented by the national federation can exert in the world to its responsibilities and join the men who have heretofore directed the affairs of the world in solving its tremendous problems. Said she: "Women learned during the war that the home is the unit of organized society, not only the spiritual and social unit, but also the governmental unit that it is the brooding place of citizenship. All the forces of the outside world are bombarding the home and we must go outside to control those forces. There is no isolation of the home."

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Winter was briefly interviewed by a local group to which she admitted she is not indorsing the women's party, believing there should be no political divisions based on sex, and that there are parties enough which women can join in which they can do effective work.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY OF HER DAUGHTER

Mrs. Rose Vogel of 425 North Kenwood street entertained recently with a party in celebration of the birthday anniversary of her daughter, Miss Ruth Vogel. Those present included Miss Florence Brown, Miss Arlene Darby, Miss Daisy Kearne, Miss Ruth Vogel, Miss Marian Hill, Miss Margaret Johnson, Miss Helene Rickard, Stanley Vogel, Vernon Allen, Kenneth Foltz, Howard Smith, Byron Kearne, Lloyd Cotton and Rea Frisbee. Halloween decorations and appropriate games were played. The remainder of the time was spent in dancing, after which refreshments proved to be the big attraction.

ACACIA P-T. A. IS PLANNING FOR BAZAAR

Mrs. W. B. Alexander, chairman of finance of the Acacia P-T. A., is this afternoon entertaining the room mothers of that school at her home, 1003 East Palmer. At that meeting, which is assembling at 1:30, plans are being made for the bazaar which is to be held by the association November 24. Mrs. Alexander has planned for 22 guests and a social hour during which refreshments will be served which is to follow the business session. Mrs. L. B. Torrey is president of the association.

MRS. S. E. ALLEN HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON CARD PARTY

Mrs. S. E. Allen of 352 West Loma avenue will be hostess at luncheon and cards on Wednesday at the Egyptian Village cafe to a group of 12 friends from Los Angeles.

COLLEGE WOMEN HAVE SIXTY AT AFTERNOON TEA

About 60 members and guests were present at the afternoon tea and program held Saturday from 3 o'clock until 5 by the Glendale Women's club at the Tuesday Afternoon club house. This was observed at "Pomona day" by the club. The meeting opened with the singing of the traditional song of Pomona, "Ghost Dance," in which the 12 Pomona college people present joined in. Mrs. James A. Blaisdell, wife of the president of Pomona college, brought greetings from her husband. She told some interesting reminiscences about her stay at Pomona and told of some of the things that the women of the faculty are doing in a social way. Ray Moreman of the college faculty gave two very beautiful vocal selections, accompanying himself at the piano.

Dr. B. C. Ewer, head of the psychology department, gave a very interesting talk on "Psychological Sex Differences as Observed in the Classroom" by a Professor of Psychology. Mrs. James Judy of the college, gave several vocal numbers, accompanied at the piano by Mr. Moreman. Mr. Moreman, who represented Pomona on the faculty of the International college at Smyrna, told some interesting stories connected with his two years of service there and also spoke on behalf of the Turkish women and their efforts to free themselves from bondage. Mr. Batten, who has charge of the publicity work of the college, was present and gave some very interesting statistics. The meeting closed with the singing of the Pomona college hymn, "Hall, Pomona, Hall," after which the guests adjourned to the tea room where refreshments were served.

JOLLY BACHELOR DANCES PROVING VERY POPULAR

The Jolly Bachelor dances, being given every Saturday evening at the Odd Fellows' hall are proving to be very popular and happy events and, judging from the large number who are attending, are finding much favor with the residents of Glendale who like to attend a good, clean dancing party. Music for dancing was furnished by Kelly's Shrine orchestra, which proved another feature. A surprise was in store for those attending Saturday night when Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Magee of Los Angeles gave an exhibition of the Argentine waltz and an eccentric fox trot. Mr. and Mrs. Magee were winners of the Jack Dempsey dancing trophy given in Los Angeles recently. The trophy was on display and was greatly admired by those present. Another dancing party will be given by the Jolly Bachelors next Saturday at the Odd Fellows' hall.

MRS. GODDARD GIVEN PROGRESSIVE CELEBRATION

Mrs. Anna Goddard, who is book-keeper in the office of the Los Angeles Bazaar company, was pleasantly surprised throughout the day on Saturday by her friends who had planned various events in celebration of her birthday anniversary. At noon she was surprised during the luncheon hour at the office. In the evening Mrs. Goddard was invited by an automobile ride and stopped at the home of Mrs. Prescott on South San Fernando road, presumably for the purpose of meeting Mrs. Prescott's mother, who is visiting here. When she entered the house she was confronted with a beautifully decorated dinner table with covers laid for 12, in her honor. On Sunday other friends called to extend best wishes, among them being Mrs. W. H. Crawford.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS TO MEET NOVEMBER 7

Announcement is made that the social section of Glendale Community Players will meet on November 7 at the club hall at 1428 South San Fernando road. The plan is for the section to have two social parties a month and give the members an opportunity to assist in production of plays and musical comedies. Among the productions being planned by the Players for the near future are a minstrel show and a musical comedy.

MALVERN BARKERS GIVE HALLOWEEN DANCE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Malvern Barker of 1246 South Glendale avenue entertained at their guests at a Halloween dancing party at their home Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Max Green, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tanner and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Galvin. The guests were all attired in Halloween costumes.

OTTAWA, Ontario.—Nova Scotia will market 1,500,000 barrels of apples this year, while British Columbia will have 3,142,000 boxes of apples for sale, according to an estimate issued today by the Fruit Branch of the department of agriculture. The estimated commercial supply of apples in Ontario is 650,000 barrels; in Quebec, 33,000, and in New Brunswick, 10,000.

MARJORIE DODGE, SOLOIST FOR MUSIC CLUB CONCERT

Soloist for the regular monthly concert of the Glendale Music club, to be held on Friday, November 9, at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium, will be Marjorie Dodge. Miss Dodge is said to be a very charming young woman and in addition to her attractive appearance and personality possesses a beautiful soprano voice. Her training has all been received in America. She has sung throughout the east with all of the large oratorio societies and orchestras. In December she is to appear with the Los Angeles Oratorio society and also with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra. She is under the management of L. E. Behymer.

The program to be given by Miss Dodge will include Italian, French, English and American compositions. Members who have not paid their dues are requested to be at the clubhouse early Friday night and secure their year books from the secretary. On account of the fire benefit entertainment on Tuesday night, the meeting of the Oratorio section of the Glendale Music club will be held at 7:30 p. m., on Wednesday at the high school auditorium.

ELKS LODGE REGULAR MEETING TONIGHT

Regular business meeting of Glendale lodge of Elks, No. 1289, will be held tonight at the clubhouse on Colorado street with Exalted Ruler James Apfel in charge. The Elks' orchestra will be present and give several selections. Final arrangements will be made for the big entertainment and dance to be given by the Elks at the Tuesday Afternoon club on November 8. The entire proceeds from this affair will go towards the Elks' Christmas charity fund. The program will be given from 8 p. m. until 9:30 and the remainder of the evening will be spent in dancing.

The annual sale, bazaar and big church supper of the Central Christian church which is to be held on November 20, will be presided over by Mrs. O. L. Kilborn, assisted by the following committees: Dinner, Mesdames Hedges, Leggett and Maxwell; candy and handkerchiefs, Mrs. Fitch, Young women's department and S. O. S. class; fancy work, Mesdames J. H. Orth and Hober B. Miller and "Lure" class; cooked food, Mesdames Bennett and Hagin; ice cream, Mrs. Kaiser; world call, Mrs. Jodon; rummage table, Mrs. Musser; parcel post booth, Mrs. Ray. Cashiers are Mesdames Heacock and Hutten.

LITERATURE SECTION TO MEET WEDNESDAY, 2:30

Members of the literature section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. H. C. Wilcox is curator, will hold their regular meeting at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the tea room of the clubhouse. The program will begin with roll call, current events; review of magazines, Mrs. Fred Abbey; paper on "Great Achievements of Today," Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth; general discussion; vocal numbers, Miss Carroll Marshall; Mrs. G. N. Ball, piano numbers.

DORAN STREET P-T. A. TO MEET WEDNESDAY, 3 P. M.

Regular meeting of the Doran Street Parent-Teacher association will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the school. A patriotic program has been arranged and will be given by pupils of the school. Mrs. J. C. Danford, librarian, will speak on "Children's Books," Mrs. Clark Johnson, president, extends a hearty welcome to all mothers.

Hospital Buildings To Cost $350,000,000

(By Associated Press)
MILWAUKEE, Nov. 5.—All phases of hospital management will be discussed by superintendents, trustees, nurses, architects and manufacturers of hospital equipment at the twenty-fifth annual conference of the American Hospital association which opens here tomorrow for five days. Registration was more than 3,000 at the Atlantic City conference last year, and the more extended education exhibits this year are expected to attract a larger attendance.

Hospital construction, mechanical and scientific equipment, domestic management, food values, education of nurses, how to balance costs of operation and investment of hospital trust funds, will be among the specialized subjects discussed, according to Dr. A. R. Warner, Chicago, secretary of the association. Sixty-seven speakers are on the program from United States and Canada, which will be presided over by Asa S. Bacon, superintendent of the Presbyterian hospital of Chicago, president.

Mr. Warner estimates the total value of hospital buildings and grounds in the United States in excess of $1,800,000,000 and the total expenditure annually for maintenance of 6,000 hospitals at approximately $525,000,000. A sum of $350,000,000, he states, will be spent during the year for new buildings and equipment.

Many a man's good reputation is due to what isn't found out about him.

ORGANIZE NEW EASTERN STAR CHAPTER IN GLENDALE

Worthy Grand Matron Maude Bigelow, Elks, and Associate Grand Patron Russell La Fontaine, of the grand chapter of the state of California, Order of the Eastern Star, conducted a meeting held Saturday night at the Ralph W. Browne studio, 215 North Brand boulevard, which was attended by 51 Eastern Star members who had demits and were ready to go into a new chapter O. E. S. in Glendale. Of this number 45 were from outside the jurisdiction of California. Only 30 of these could go on the petition to the grand chapter, but all will be considered charter members. The temporary list for members desiring to join the new chapter is closed until after the permit is received from the grand chapter. It is hoped that the new chapter will be instituted before the first of January. Further information regarding the organization of the new chapter is awaiting instructions from the grand chapter.

TUESDAY CLUB'S REGULAR LUNCHEON TOMORROW

Regular luncheon meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club will be held on November 6 at 12:30, with Rex Goodcell, Mrs. O. W. March and Dean Irene Myers as the speakers. This will be followed by a short business session at 2:30 and program at 3. The program will be given by Maude Fenlon Bollman, vocalist, who will present "A Song of Life."

MEETING OF INTERMEDIATE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

The monthly business meeting of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the Glendale Presbyterian church was held Saturday night at the home of the social chairman, Miss Mildred Sooy, 658 West California avenue. The regular business session was held followed by dainty refreshments and games. About fifty were present and had a very enjoyable evening.

ART ASSOCIATION DELIGHTED WITH RUSSIAN ARTIST

Members and guests of the Glendale art association had a very delightful hour Sunday afternoon at the public library with Frederick Alfred Leekney, the Russian artist. Mr. Leekney has spent seven years in the orient, painting the eastern temples. He took the members on an interesting imaginary tour of the Mongolian, Manchurian and Tibetan temples. Many of these were destroyed in the recent earthquake.

In his talk, Mr. Leekney brought out how in the orient art and religion go hand in hand as the ideal of the family. The higher the philosophy and art, the higher the family is in caste.

These lectures given at the Glendale Art association meetings are open to the public and are given for educational purposes. One of the ideals of the association is to make Glendale one of the art centers of California and to help the artist so that he may keep his lofty ideals without having to sell them for commercialism.

The next meeting of the club will be a social evening the third Friday in November at the public library, when John W. Cotton will give a talk on "American Art and Artists." Mr. Cotton will also be the speaker at the regular meeting of the fine arts section of the Tuesday Afternoon club on Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the club house, corner of Lexington drive and North Central avenue.

PARENTS' READING CIRCLE FOR GRAND VIEW P-T. A.

PRICES CUT TO THE QUICK AT FERBER'S

Big Removal Sale Now on and Buying Public
Gets Benefit

The removal sale of Ferber's Department store, 108 South Brand, which started this morning with a crowded room, promises to be one of the biggest merchandising events pulled off in Glendale in a long time. Saturday's Glendale Daily Press contained a full-page advertisement which gave the buying public a faint idea of the big reductions to be made during this sale.

"We prefer to move the goods with prices rather than trucks," said Manager Mendleman, who, with a large force of merchandising experts spent the greater part of Saturday night marking down the goods and placing them on display for the big sale, which started this morning with such impetus. "Nothing has been spared in our stock, and we are going to give the people of Glendale prices that will move the greater part of it. Although our stock is the best, we would like to sell it out before moving into our big department store on the corner of Broadway and Maryland," said Manager Mendleman. "For we want to give the Glendale public an idea of what Ferber's motto, 'Working today for tomorrow,' really means, and the prices and quality of goods offered by Ferber's in this sale will be a revelation to the people. Mr. Ferber has given us instructions to reduce the stock as low as possible, and to do this he said, 'do not be afraid to cut prices to the quick,' and we want to demonstrate to the people that Ferber's can give them merchandise that will prove real savings."

STREET CARS FOR WOMEN ONLY

New York newspaper correspondents have reported that subway cars reserved for women only during the rush hours are being urged by a number of Manhattan churchmen, following a proposal to that effect by the Rev. Father James O'Corrigan.

"There is not only physical suffering and menace to health, but the indiscriminate crowding of women and young girls in the rush hours is debasing and demoralizing," declared Transit Commissioner Leroy T. Harkness. "Thus far no women advocates have come forward."

SECOND ADDITION NOW BUILDING AT COKER & TAYLOR'S

Coker & Taylor, 209 South Brand, are compelled to build an addition to their already large establishment. The present addition now being erected makes the second this rapidly growing firm has been forced to make during the past year.

The cooking school must have more room, so large has grown the attendance, and it is also necessary to have more floor space to properly display Direct Action stoves. Mr. Merrill, head salesman, says the demand for Direct Action stoves is growing so rapidly that he finds it necessary to keep a much larger number set up and ready for immediate delivery, and to do this he was compelled to have more floor space.

Then, too, the cooking school on Wednesday and Friday is growing in numbers and the problem of seating those who desire to take advantage of this free school has also occupied the attention of Coker & Taylor. Mrs. Curtis, who is an expert in teaching the culinary art, has created a wonderful interest among the ladies and her instruction has proven to be very valuable, so much so that it has been impossible to accommodate the large crowds who have attended. But this trouble will be over shortly, for the new addition will soon be completed and more seating room provided.

Truths in Epigram

The heart of man is the place the devil's in.—Sir Thomas Browne.

As good be out of the world as out of fashion.—Cibber.

Men may live fools, but fools they cannot die.—Young.

He that does one fault at first, and lies to hide it, makes it two.—Isaac Watts.

A GREAT AMERICAN'S WISDOM

Benjamin Franklin, venerable savant, a man whose loyalty to his country was intense, and whose devotion to high principle never swerved, was addressing the convention that had been called to draw up a constitution for the states. At that time no American had been more honored. His conduct in England, and later in France, had stamped him as one of the world's great. He was feeling the burden of years, but his soul was valiant, his mind clear, his spirit invincible. And addressing that convention engaged in the making of history Franklin said:

"We have been assured, sirs, that except the Lord build the house they labor in vain who build it. I firmly believe this and I also believe that without His concurring aid we shall succeed in this political structure no better than the builders of Babel; we shall be divided and confounded, and we ourselves become a reproach and a byword down to future ages. And what is worse, mankind may hereafter despair of establishing government by human wisdom, and leave it to chance, war and conquest."

How far the nation then in process of forming has wandered from the ideals of one of the most august of its founders it was impossible to set forth, or even to conjecture. Perhaps it has done as well as the equation of mortal frailty could permit. At least it has acquired stability. At least it has set an example worthy of being followed, for it has maintained a liberty elsewhere unknown, and reached a plane of prosperity unique among the peoples of the earth. Yet there is lacking that fine spirituality with which Franklin sought to have it imbued. The reverence with which Franklin addressed himself to the subject no longer is a common possession. Many, of a new generation, are prone to look upon it as out of date. It is not a part of the standard by which they measure conduct. There is a flippancy that to the careless may seem to be superficial, and yet that is based on a waning faith. The race changes, but if in changing it turns from the God of the fathers, it turns from the light.

WORTHLESS BONDS

Los Angeles county "lost" $113,000 in worthless bail bonds during the fiscal year ending with June 30. This means that defendants who had given bonds to the amount mentioned, failed to appear for trial. Then discovery was made that the bonds were worthless, "straw bonds" as pledges of the sort generally are known.

Straw bonds constitute the main reliance of many criminals. Officials dealing with the class in question ought to be aware of so plain a fact by this time. However, the process of accepting bail that has no value, because there is no security behind it, goes along practically without interruption. It is seldom that any one is punished for the offense. There is a species of crook who is a sort of connecting link between respectability and the underworld, who makes his living by acting as a straw bondsman. This is not true alone of Los Angeles county, but the custom prevails in every center of population large enough to be the scene of criminal activity.

To be sure the county that is swindled in this fashion loses certain sums of money, but this does not measure the real loss. The purpose in arraigning a criminal is not to make him a source of profit, but the subject of corrective measures. The calamity is not that he swindles the community by his mode of escape, but rather it lies in the circumstance that he does escape. This is a loss not to be expressed in terms of money, but compared with it, the financial consideration might well be regarded as of minor interest.

THE NAVAL INQUIRY

The naval inquiry into the recent destruction of seven craft off this coast has brought out many interesting facts. The ultimate placing of blame rests with the court martial. That the responsibility is to be definitely fixed there is no doubt. Neither is there doubt that the officer upon whom it shall fall will admit the righteousness of the verdict. Already the one whose course seems to have been condemned by the evidence of his associates, has asserted that he is ready to accept the full penalty. None can say that his attitude has been other than brave and manly. He has not shown the least bitterness towards the fellow officers who were forced by their testimony to place him in the wrong. They did it regretfully, for he was their friend, admired for fine character and an ability that never before had failed.

More engrossing than this detail was the narration of the conduct of officers and crews after the tragedy had begun. There were displays of courage, quickness and devotion. The emergency found every human unit ready to do his part. Death seemed close at hand, and to more than a score it was closed indeed, reaching from the waves and grasping them, yet not one faltered. The revelation, made in modest phrase, was enough to stir the pride of the nation in the personnel of the navy. The board, bent on the stern business of finding the truth about the fatal error, had occasion to mention as worthy, far more than it was called upon to censure.

SETTING ASIDE A LAW

A judge of the superior court has declared unconstitutional the law making it a felony for an ex-convict or an alien to have a fire-arm in his possession or control. The judicial view is that such enactment is special legislation. This raises an important issue, which doubtless lawyers will discuss with great learning. Meanwhile the layman may only express regret that when the legislature attempts the abatement of a great evil, the practice of placing obstacles in the way is so invariably in evidence. There never was a law that pleased everybody. The ordinance restraining an individual but that does not touch his neighbor, because the neighbor does not offend, is likely to be deemed special legislation by the individual himself. The possibility that he may be right in his contention has to be recognized.

Nevertheless it seems a pity that society cannot lay down a rule governing the conduct of an ex-convict, at least when such ex-convict is not a citizen. As to aliens, the situation may be different, and jurists will have to be depended upon to settle it. It is true that an ex-convict may reform, and be as safe a neighbor as another, but the experience of this state with persons of the class mentioned has been unfortunate. So large a proportion as really to be startling, are not content to be ex-convicts. After they have served their terms, or have been paroled, and thus acquired the "ex," their frequent ambition is to resume the vocation that had made them troublesome. When robbers are arrested, in the majority of instances they are ex-convicts, apparently desirous of dropping the prefix. It is common for them to be armed with deadly weapons; which certainly is unfortunate, and might be regarded as reprehensible. But if the right of the ex-convict to carry a gun is judicially upheld, there seems nothing to do but to request him not to use it recklessly.

A wild animal hunter denies the report that he wantonly slaughtered game while in Africa. It would be interesting to know what he calls the process of killing things just because they happen to be alive.

DOES YOUR MIND REGISTER?

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

There are times when it seems to me that women regard words as merely so many varieties of sound, having no significance and used for no purpose save to fill up time.

I mention this failing of my sex just now because I am a daily witness of the trouble that it causes. Few days pass over my head that do not bring to my presence some woman who asks me why people do not like her, do not seek her, do not make of her a warm and constant friend.

One such woman asked me to secure for her club a speaker that she had been unable to secure. The speaker was brilliant, a bit erratic and intensely opposed to having her name mis-called. Her name was, let us say, Anna Filson Fones. The woman who asked me to secure her habitually spoke of her as Annie Gilson Jones, a triple plated name which she asserted was easy for her to pronounce.

Well, Mrs. Fones went to the club to speak and before the president of the club rose to introduce her I took her to one side and said this—and I emphasized every word:

"When you introduce the speaker don't call her Jones; don't call her Annie. Her name is Anna. And she deserves being called Gilson, also Jones rouses her fury."

And then I carefully wrote the full name on a bit of paper and passed it to her. Five minutes later she rose, made a careless and hurried speech and then introduced Miss (the speaker was the mother of two grown sons) Annie Gilson Jones. The thing that had been told her to help her into the graces of the speaker simply had not registered. The woman did not even know that she had made a mistake much less that she had offended. Can she ever achieve anything with such powers of attention, or rather lack of attention?

One of the chief difficulties that club women have in securing busy people to speak to them comes from the fact that they so often ignore all the requests made by the speakers, requests made imperative by the work of professional workers. I once sat on tenter hooks while the mayor of a big city, who had distinctly stated to a club chairman that he could spare but a half hour for his speech before her body, was kept waiting three-quarters of an hour while the chairman's "darling child" played a couple of horrible piano selections.

At the close of the second the gentleman arose and courteously excused himself, saying that the time allotted for his address had passed and he had to go.

What he had said did not register with the chairman, and she never forgave him for not speaking.

In the same way I saw a professional singer detained until after lunch at a club when she had promised to sing at 11:30 and at that hour only.

"Why we had no idea you were in a hurry," chorused the club when she rose to go. "We wanted you to stay and visit with us."

The annoyed visitor returned shortly: "I thought I made it clear when you asked me that I could give you only the time between lessons."

Her statement had not registered; that was all. Life belongs to the people who have minds that register; friendship belongs to them and success belongs to them. To others belong only disappointment and the eternal amazement that it should come to them.

"Ain't life funny?"

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

This morning a promising adventure into high business flattened out like a dropped egg. It went out like a candle in a gale of wind. And the sufferer doesn't know it yet.

"He began life as a gigolo," laughed the sufferer to be, telling of another man in business. "Clever my word!"

The speaker is an European, over here to interest American capital in what may be a very good proposition. But character counts in business as an asset. No proposition is good for me if my money is being managed by a scamp. The speaker in this case may be as honest as the day, but he seemed to approve a form of low rascality.

"A gigolo," he explained to us country mice, "is a handsome young man who plays the adoring servant to some old fool of a rich woman."

That sort of thing is common enough in certain levels of society, he said, but no matter. The gigolo in question coaxed his particular old fool of a woman to back him in a scheme. It made money and she lost none, but again no matter. She lost her gigolo as soon as he could afford to dispense with her financial aid, just as such old fools always do.

And our new acquaintance, the European business man, wanted us to take that sort of a man into our circle. We didn't even have to look at each other before voting "no."

That sort of a man is apt to be too clever for business men who are merely honest.

Besides that, we don't like to associate with men whose hands are dirty. Gigolos may flourish in Paris, but they're apt to have the dogs set on them in the United States.

THE LISTENING POST

We cannot have individual immorality and national morality.

We cannot have individual selfishness and national unselfishness.

We cannot have individual bitterness and national sweetness and kindness.

The nation reflects the individual.

We cannot have clear thinking as a nation without clear thinking in the individuals.

We cannot have national health with individual disease.

We cannot have a keen sense of national honor without a keen sense of individual honor.

So it is important that we have the right spirit in the individual.

Honor in individual business means honor in national business.

Sanity in individual life means sanity in national life.

Individual ideals mean national ideals.

No institution rises to a higher state than the individuals of which it is composed.

If the individuals are hateful, greedy, selfish, little, then the institution will have the same evil qualities.

We talk a lot and complain a lot of the condition of the affairs in the world.

And some of us seem to think that the world should rise higher than the individuals of which it is composed.

We would remedy national thinking without touching individual thinking.

Which cannot be done.

We send young people forth into the world to render service.

And we are not always sure that their education has been such as would fit them for rendering service.

We think ideals can be served without preparation and education.

No high spirit is possible in a nation unless there is high spirit in the individuals of it.

Selfish men never made an unselfish nation. Greedy, persons never achieved a generous institution.

Things come back at last to the individual.

If we want this nation to survive as a great and free nation we need to get at the spirit of the individual.

There cannot be national wisdom with individual ignorance.

There cannot be national tolerance with individual bigotry.

No crooked voter will help to make a clean government.

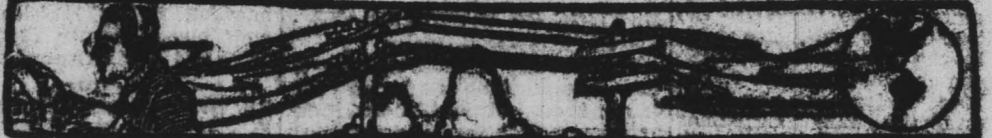

No twisted legs can walk straight. No blind eyes will see. No warped conscience will respond to the call of righteousness.

So let us dig down into ourselves. Not where are we drifting nationally, but where are we drifting individually.

Not what is the state of the national conscience but what is the state of the individual conscience.

Not what is the state of the world but what is the state of me.

The nation will not rise higher than we do as individuals. Neither will the world.

Songs of the Poets

Evening—By Ridgely Torrence

Beauty calls and gives no warning,
Shadows rise and wander in the day.
In the twilight, in the quiet evening,
We shall rise and smile and go away
Over the flaming leaves
Freezes the sky.

It is the season grieves,
Not you, not I.
All our spring-times, all our summers,
We have kept the longing warm within.
Now we leave the after-comers
To attain the dreams we did not win.

Oh, we have awakened, Sweet, and had our birth,
And that's the end of earth;
And we have toiled and smiled and kept the light,
And that's the end of night.

RELIGION AND INTELLIGENCE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE other day Bishop Manning of New York, in a sermon, spoke some clear and needed words concerning his own faith, words that might well apply to religion in general.

"We must make it clear," he said, "that the truth revealed in Jesus Christ is in no conflict with any truth made known to us by science or scholarship. There is no reason why religion should have any suspicions or fear of science. There is nothing in the Christian faith which conflicts with the scientific theory of evolution. We who preach the gospel today must make it clear that our religion is not a barrier to our thinking, or a restriction imposed upon our minds."

Religion of some kind is a practical, usable necessity for human beings. Rightly apprehended it makes men better citizens, better business men, better scholars and better poets. It makes women perform more easily and perfectly their delicate mission in the world.

But if religion is something that has to shy at facts, and to cover its face at the discovery of every new truth, then, valuable as it is, we shall have to give it up. For religion is of use to us only as it enables us to adjust ourselves to the truth.

To fear science is to fear facts. Such an attitude to an honest mind is intolerable.

Only those who are hospitably minded toward every fact and who have no fear of free opinion and open discussion, can be said to have pure faith.

Any kind of faith that wishes to use force of any kind to repress opinion, or smother up facts, is the kind of faith referred to in the saying:

"The half-faith lights the flag."

Persecution, intolerance, and repression arise from a lack of confidence that the truth in religion is able to take care of itself.

It might be well for the fearful and timid souls who imagine that religion is in danger of being extinguished, to read the famous sentence of John Milton's:

"Through all the winds of doctrine were let loose to play upon the earth, so Truth be in the field, we do ingloriously, by licensing and prohibiting, to mislead her strength. Let her and falsehood grapple: who ever knew Truth put to the worse in a free and open encounter?"

Those who have an intelligent faith, have it because they believe it is true and because it works. Those whose faith rests upon any other foundation have built their spiritual houses upon the sand.

H. L. Mencken calls Havelock Ellis "undoubtedly the most civilized Englishman living today." In the last book of Ellis, "The Dances of Life," speaking of religion, he says:

"Religion need not involve intellectual suicide. The operations of reason, so far from being fettered, can be affected with greater freedom and on a larger scale. Under favorable conditions the religious process, indeed, directly contributes to strengthen the scientific attitude."

Again he gives us a glimpse of that which is destructive to both religion and science when he says:

"The burden of traditions, of conventions, of castes, has too often proved fatal alike to the manifestation of the religious impulse and the scientific impulse."

Religion and science are not enemies of each other. They are comrades, side by side, in the war against superstition and ignorance.

Religion and science are not enemies of each other. They are comrades, side by side, in the war against superstition and ignorance.

Religion and science are not enemies of each other. They are comrades, side by side, in the war against superstition and ignorance.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

There are many ways to take advantage of the findings of the scientist and inventor, but among these, hunting ducks by airplane, will have to be regarded as unique.

Three fellows up in Washington are said to have tried it the other day, killing 100 ducks, and now they are to be arrested. They had gone right into a flock of ducks, the account says, and fired right and left as fast as they could pull a trigger. Mighty mean trick to play on a lot of unsuspecting birds, and there will be a general hope that the hunters get severely penalized.

The case promises complications. Probably the lawyer will contend that nowhere do the statutes mention the shooting of ducks in the clouds, but have reference only to hunters on the surface. Anyhow it might be difficult to controvert a claim that the ducks were scared so that they fainted and were killed by the subsequent fall.

The story is a little dubious anyhow. As the nature of a duck generally is understood, it is wild and shy. It would be likely to hear the airship from afar, and get elsewhere with celerity. The duck is not curious. It could not be wooed into seeking the company of an aviator for the sake of seeing how the flying contraption worked. It needs no lessons in flying.

However, a duck story with a fishy flavor is new.

A short time ago soviet Russia announced that it never would send troops outside the country unless forced by necessity to do so. Now it is said to be massing troops along the border, much to the terror of Poland.

The necessity has not been explained, and perhaps would be apparent to the bolshevist mind alone.

It is evident that the separation of Germany will not be with the consent of England. The consent of England still is an important factor. Perhaps the time is coming when Germany will cease hating Great Britain, and be grateful instead.

An aged grocer in the little town of Bell was slow about handing his money over to two robbers. So they killed him, took the money and went their way.

Judged by precedents far too many, the incident may be regarded as closed. No newspaper fuss about it either, there being so many more spectacular crimes.

The death penalty is asked for an incendiary, who among other fires, set one that cost the lives of ten Japanese children. The penalty is as mild as could be asked consistently, but the defendant need not be perturbed in his mind.

Nothing could be easier than for the average trick lawyer to prove him crazy. It may be assumed that persons wholly normal do not go about burning property just to see the blaze.

There is a justice in Oxnard who says he will keep right on punishing speeders. People have been trying to tell him that the new automobile law is a joke, but he is so constituted as not to be able to see a joke readily.

A dispatch from Portland states that a street there is blocked by throngs intent upon seeing certain carved figures set up to adorn a new building. It would seem that the figures are not fully clad. It is impossible for some persons to see a marble leg and not be conscious of evil passions welling up within themselves. Therefore arises an outcry against the decorations, coming from those who desire to be pure, but know themselves unable to be so in the presence of a marble leg.

By an inadvertence the correspondent neglected to say whether the Portland named, is in Oregon or Maine. Residents of each state naturally hope it is in the other.

New York courts have just sent a wealthy merchant to prison for a year and fined him $500 for horse-whipping his niece, a girl of whom he was guardian. As the girl is nineteen, and earns her living by teaching school, any guardian but an old fool would have known better.

Whipping is going out of fashion. As to self-supporting young women, it never really has been in fashion.

Two girls found guilty of grand larceny, and known as the associates of dangerous thieves, have been convicted, and their weeping pleas for probation rejected.

Doubtless the court did this with regret, but the inclination to follow the custom of letting pretty offenders go unpunished was a good sign.

Senator Couzens and Henry Ford are exchanging rather pointed shafts of personal opinion. Doubtless if they get mad enough to tell all they know about each other the result will be interesting, without helping any presidential boom much.

There seems a crassly discourteous tendency to sneer at the distinction of being buried in Westminster Abbey. The body of Bonar Law rests within the walls of that historic pile, with others to whom England had sought in such manner to pay tribute.

American tourists fifty years from now "will look at his grave and ask 'Who in Heaven's name was that?'" says one of the sneering type.

Possibly so, but what of it?

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

RESISTANCE

The teacher was training an unfortunate child. He had come into the world terribly handicapped and she was working to decrease it as much as was humanly possible. She had begun with his hands.

"He had very soft hands, just like a baby's. No power, no grasp. I had to get it there. First a very soft ball that he could squeeze, then a firmer one until now he can hold and throw, catch and let go any sort of a ball."

"Then I taught him to hammer. First on a clay block and then on soft wood, and now he hammers iron. Why? Because he must feel the resistance of the material if it is to do him any good. Someway the thrill of the resisting material runs up his hand and arm to his brain and strengthens him all along the line. Resistance strengthens mind and muscle at the same time. Not too much, not too little, just enough."

What about our children who have no such handicaps to overcome? Are we sure that their day always has just enough of resistance to strengthen and invite them on? To set a problem that will at the same time be strong enough to resist him and easy enough to coax him on is a nice bit of adjustment and takes great skill.

"Oh, that's too easy. I'm sick of them! Give me some hard ones."

"Oh, that's too hard. I can't do that! Why don't you give me an easier one?"

Only thought and experience will help you to set the right task with the right amount of resistance to make for growth. But thought and experience will direct you and teach you how it is done if you will make up your mind to try.

Many a so-called lazy child is no because the job set for him offered no resistance. There was no thrill in the overcoming. The dull child is often one whose task has offered too much resistance for his strength.

Most important of all there seems to be some subtle relation between the resistance overcome in the daily task and the power of resistance toward evil. Just what it is or how much it is, isn't clear. But that there is some and that it counts, is very clear.

It may be the habit of sticking at the thing one started out to do, the healthy resistance that sends back a thrill along the muscles of our hands and arms makes for mental health as well, it may be the mind and body together are trained to resist.

At all events resistance, the job that gives the child a chance to dig into it, is necessary to the growth of a child.

When a task calls for no further effort it holds no further educative value for him. Set him another.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

PLENTY OF TURKEYS!

[Houston Post]

Reports to trade papers indicate that the turkey crop is so extraordinarily large as to preclude any probability of a shortage of stock along about the holidays with an accompanying sharp boost in prices, such as has been experienced in several past seasons.

Nearly all turkey-producing sections of the country tell of increased production. Texas, which is the largest producer for the Thanksgiving trade, has twice as many turkeys being prepared for market as the state had at this time last year. The condition of the Texas stock is said to be excellent.

Serving Two Masters Impartially

THE modern bank's escrow officer is merely a stakeholder. He is non-partisan. His business is to protect both buyer and seller of property on a cold, efficient, impersonal basis. He closes an escrow only when all agreements by all parties interested are fulfilled.

Thus, escrow services of the modern bank are a valuable and important factor in business transactions involving exchange of property.

The escrow department of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank maintains a high point of efficiency, not alone in the interest of the bank,—because an escrow is of little direct profit,—but in the interest of the community and the protection of patrons.

By FRANCIS W. READ

Andy Smith, coach of the University of California eleven, showed perhaps the poorest judgment of his entire football career Saturday when he went down to Palo Alto to see the Stanford-Olympic club game and took five of his best men, the stars of the Bruin team, with him. He figured that it would be better to have these men get wise to the Stanford style of football than to have them remain in Berkeley to play against the Wolves. That is where the great Andy, the master mind of football, erred in his judgment. For had he allowed Captain Don Nichols, Babe Horrell, Shaffin, Bean and Perry to remain with the rest of the Bear squad, it is improbable that Nevada would have been able to hold the Blue and Gold to a scoreless tie.

When Andy left for Stanford, he gave instructions to his assistants to start the second string off against the Wolves, and to let some of the third and fourth string men into the battle. The will of the great Andy was obeyed, and to behold, the Wolves played circles around the famous Golden Bears, and such first string men as were on the spot were hurriedly sent into the fray, but the very men who were needed were down at Palo Alto watching the Cards beat the Olympic club, while their own team was in grave danger of being defeated.

Whittier, Dixon and Dunn were the only first string men to start against Nevada. When Dixon intercepted a pass on the 9-yard line he saved the Bears from being scored upon by the Sagebrushers. Dunn, by his wonderful tackles, saved the bacon for the Bears several times. But without the other veterans the line refused to hold, and time after time the Nevada crew got through for yards. King was unable to direct the movements of the team and finally Evans had to be substituted for him at quarter.

It must be confessed that Nevada completely outplayed California and had three chances to score against the Bears' one. The Blue and Gold eleven was utterly helpless without the master mind of Andy Smith and the five stars.

Never before has the scorer had the chance to mark down an error for Andy Smith in the percentage column, but his chance came Saturday and as a result the Nevada eleven figured to be the easiest opponent that California had to face this year, placed itself in the class with the Washington and Jefferson teams by holding the Bears to a scoreless tie. There is such a thing as a moral victory, as we have asserted before in this column, and Nevada certainly won the moral victory in this instance.

Whether this near-defeat is the hands of an unfeared adversary, and the costly error of judgment

CARDS WIN FROM OLYMPIC CLUB
40 TO 7

Stanford Stages Come-back and Defeats Wnged O Footballers

STANFORD STADIUM, Nov. 5. — Olympic Club of San Francisco 7, Stanford varsity 40. Coach Andrew Kerr's Cardinals took the field at the stadium Saturday determined to show definitely that they may not be counted out of Pacific coast football. The demonstration was fully as convincing as the score indicates.

Coach Kerr started the game with seven reserve players in the positions of seven crippled veterans. They did their work so well that none of the injured regulars was used in over four minutes of play throughout the game. In the backfield, Capt. Campbell directed an attack in which three substitutes, Cuddenback, Solomon and Wheat did the work. In less than five minutes after the game opened they had advanced the ball to the 4-yard line, after which Cuddenback went over. A few minutes later when Clyde King of the Olympic club tried to score from placement, his kick fell short, was caught by the same Cuddenback, who ran eighty yards through a broken field for a touchdown. The Clubmen then braced and held during the rest of the quarter as well as all of the next, and Stanford did not score again until well in the third period.

displayed by Smith will serve to demoralize the team on the eve of their crucial game with U. S. C., or whether they will have the same effect that defeat had to the Trojans and Cards, and stimulate them to such a point that they would win their game, it is impossible to say. We can tell better about that next Saturday. But any way you take it, Andy Smith is guilty of poor judgment and to him goes the blame for the failure of Cal to win Saturday. Even the great Andy is not infallible. "To err is human."

GAME FROM POETS
BY 12-3 SCORE

Whittier Is Defeated and Knocked Into Second Place

Defeating the Whittier Poets by a 12 to 3 count, the Occidental Tigers now hold undisputed possession of the Conference lead. The game was played Saturday at Whittier. Joe Pipila's men showed that they were the better team, and copped the bacon, Argue and Riddenhoff played a great game for Occidental, going into it with all they had.

Argue got away with a 35-yard run for a touchdown on an end around play in the third quarter. This put Occidental on the long side of the score, the first half having ended with Whittier 3 points in the lead.

Undying fame was won by Tony Spangler in the fourth quarter when he snagged a forty-yard pass out of the air and looped over the last chalk mark for Tigers' final score.

Whittier started off well and had all the best of it in the first and second quarters. The Poets getting the "breaks" and taking advantage of them.

Ray Jones, Ed Suggert and Denny were the outstanding stars for Whittier with Kimmel and Behnke shining in the line. The Occidental (12) Whittier (3).

GLENDALE MAJOR
LEAGUERS DROP
PAIR OF GAMES

Angels and Shell Oilers Conquer the Glendale Ballgamers

The Glendale All-Stars, featuring major league players, yesterday completed their barnstorming exhibitions in Southern California with a perfect percentage of nothing. Having played three games here and lost three, they finished with a clean slate—one entirely too clean to best an aggregation of past and present world series heroes.

In each instance the big-time representatives lost by a narrow margin of a single run, so it is seen that they played consistent baseball while here. Yesterday's disaster was at the hands of the Shell Oil nine at Signal Hill. The score, 10 to 9, shows that the visitors were batting true to color.

Well over 3000 fans were present at yesterday's fracas to take a peek at the major leaguers. They were rewarded by seeing Babe Herman hit the first home run ever batted over the right field wall in the spacious Shell park.

Los Angeles, meaning Bill McCabe's barnstorming Angels, proved too stout for Carl Sawyer's Glendale club, comprised mainly of big leaguers, who seemed terribly bored by Saturday's proceedings. McCabe's club won, 6 to 5, and despite the fact that no pennant was at stake it proved a good contest. McCabe was foxy enough to send a seasoned club against the major leaguers, a club whose players had seen service in the big leagues, and who knew that they must pull all their stuff in order to win. Sawyer's team probably was overconfident, and if it figured on meeting a bunch of youngsters it could tie into knots, its fingers were wrong.

A man usually gets what he deserves in the end, but he manages to get a lot of other things in the mean time.

BRUINS HELD TO SCORELESS TIE
BY NEVADA

BERKELEY, Nov. 5. — Andy Smith must have felt like Sheridan, Saturday. Twenty miles away was putting it mildly, for the distance between Palo Alto and Berkeley separated the Bruin coach and five of his best men from the spot where his eleven was being held to a scoreless tie by the Nevada team. But there was no road from Palo Alto, and Andy was unable to arrive in time to save the day as did Sheridan. So the California Bears played the Nevada eleven to a tie, 0 to 0.

Had Jimmie Dixon not made a wonderful tackle and dropped Clark in his tracks in the third quarter, Nevada would have won the game. Clark was clear and was racing down the side lines like a frightened jackrabbit. He smelled a touchdown and was on his way with his ears pinned back. Dixon steadied himself and made sure of the tackle. He hit Clark hard and dropped him cold. He hit him so hard that Clark lay where he fell and had to be taken out of the game. That tackle saved the hide of the Golden Bear.

Andy Smith, head coach at California, was at Stanford watching the Cardinals mop up the Olympic club, and as quarter after quarter was reeled off with no score, the tall coach was thinking of chartering an airplane to get to California field and find out what it was all about.

Bill Blewett, the deadly drop-kicker, was rushed into the fray in the fourth quarter to try for a dropkick to save the Bears from the humiliation of being shut out by little Nevada.

ENGINEERS HAND
REDLANDS ELEVEN
SOUND WHIPPING

Caltech Scores 34 to 0 Victory Over the Bulldogs

Two fact that dopesters had alleged early in the season were conclusively demonstrated at Pasadena Saturday. The first of these was that Caltech has a team that must be counted on in the conference race, and might cop the honors, and the other is Redlands is the weakest team of the outfit. The Engineers took the game by 34 to 0 count.

A monotonous series of line smashes, each good for anywhere from three to 30 yards, gave Caltech the victory over Redlands yesterday. Redlands was helpless before a driving offense launched by the Engineers in the first period and continued for the entire game and had the ball in their opponents' territory only once.

An occasional forward pass or short end run were the only variations from a continual attack on the Bulldogs' forward wall, which couldn't withstand the battering of Alderman, Johnny Baker, Goldsmith and Foster, whose bucking was an eye-opener for scouts from other conference colleges. Fox Stanton didn't show much of a fancy offensive for the scouts to jot down, evidently saving his best plays for the Occidental game next week.

SAGEHENS TAKE GAME FROM CUBS
BY 27-6 SCORE

Branchers Are Powerless Against the Pomona Eleven

It seems that Jimmy Cline's Southern Branch footballers just weren't there Saturday when they met the Pomona Sagehens at Moore field. At least they gave every evidence of a team that wasn't there at all. They were outplayed in every sense of the word, and were really beaten worse than the score of 27 to 6 shows.

In the first half they held Pomona fairly well, allowing but one touchdown with the extra point added, and made one tally themselves. The kick afterward failed. Pomona tried for a field goal in the second quarter, but the ball hit the goal post and bounced off.

The only Cal score came in the second period after the Bruins had worked down the field by a series of line plunges in which Peak starred. Jeff Brown received a pass behind the goal line for a score. Another near touchdown came a few minutes later when the Cubs had the ball on the Pomona two-yard line on their first down. On the scrimmage line the center snapped the ball back and somewhere in the backfield things did not function properly, for there was nobody there to get the ball and it rolled all the way back to the 15-yard line, where it was recovered, but too late, for the Sagehens nailed it there. That was as close as the Cubs came to scoring for the rest of the game.

For the Cubs Peak played the best game of any of the team and when he was yanked in the third quarter the team seemed to go to pieces. Haralson had an off day, as did Art Jones. Captain Walt Westcott did not start on account of his injury but was sent in during the last period.

The Branch frosh trimmed the Pomona babes, 12 to 0, in the preliminary game.

MANY MILLIONS ARE SPENT FOR AMUSEMENTS

More than three and a half million dollars was spent for amusements in Southern California during September and almost fifteen million persons visited motion picture theaters and other places of entertainment. These figures were disclosed in a special report of admission tax collections which was forwarded to Washington yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell.

Admission tax collections for September were $301,800.33, compared with $226,431.68 for the corresponding month of 1922, a gain of 33 per cent. The tax paid represents an expenditure for amusements of $2,621,000, and an approximate attendance of 14,421,000. This indicates an annual attendance of 173,000,000, or one and a half times the population of the United States. Using the 1920 census as a basis, every person in Southern California made ten visits to places of amusement during the month.

Commenting on the increase in motion picture theater attendance Collector Goodcell said:

"Cool weather has transferred thousands of amusement seekers from the beach resorts to the motion picture theaters. The past month has been a notable one in the cinema line in Los Angeles. With premier showings at the Criterion, the Grauman theaters, the California, Loew's State, Talley's, the Mission and with twelve previews at the Roosevelt, the lovers of the screen have loyally supported the city's most colorful industry. Southern California has the largest motion picture attendance of any section in the world, in proportion to its population. This is due in a large measure to the fact that the cream of the photoplay productions are being given first showings here and to the preview policy that the producers have adopted."

Incorporated in Collector Goodcell's special report was a survey of sales tax collections for September, which showed that $536,649.08 was collected as against $422,661.63 for the corresponding period of 1922, a gain of 27 per cent.

Indicating a rapid growth in population the receipts from taxes on telephone and telegraph messages developed an increase of 30 per cent.

The banner gain of the month was registered by the collections of the sales tax on jewelry, with receipts of $75,509.95, against $43,290.91 for the same month of 1922, a gain of 77 per cent. The tax collected represents retail sales of $1,510,000.

Rand Mining District Will Be Active Camp

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 5.—That the Rand Mining district located in a range of hills rising out of the Mojave desert near the Kern-San Bernardino boundary line, was developing into one of the most active camps in the west, was the report made to the department of mines and mining of the Sacramento chamber of commerce by the manager, Bert F. Hews, upon his return from an inspection of the Rand mines.

Hews reports that there are twenty operating mining properties in and around Randsburg at the present time, and houses are being moved to that community to meet the demand for accommodations. Several new ore bodies of good milling grade, with considerable shipping ore, have recently been opened up in the district. Miners are being paid $7 and $6.50 per day, while muckers receive $6, indicating the richness of the ore. One hundred and eighty men are employed at the California Rand silver mine. Tungsten mining is to resume at Atolia.

Executive committees of the department will visit the Wise and Drumm electric power plants of the Pacific Gas & Electric company on Friday, November 2.

MEXICAN COURT BARS RIGHTS TO FOREIGNERS

[By Associated Press] MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5.—Land and water rights in Mexico of foreigners are vitally affected by a recent supreme court decision interpreting the famous Article 27 of the Mexican Constitution of 1917, which played an important part in last summer's pre-recognition conference.

The decision, although it does not touch upon that part of Article 27 which nationalizes subsoil petroleum rights, sets forth, broadly speaking, the principle that although foreigners may comply fully with the provisions of the law affecting the acquisition of land and water rights in Mexico, it is within the power of the ministry of foreign relations to refuse to sanction their titles if such refusal is deemed to be in the national interest.

It also places upon that ministry the immense responsibility of regulating in the interests of the republic the development by foreign capital of the immense sources of national wealth comprised within the term land and water rights, and in a measure regulating the investment of foreign capital in Mexico.

The court's finding, regarded as being of superlative importance to foreign interests in Mexico, especially since it is accepted as a possible indication of the bench's attitude toward foreign oil rights, came as a result of an appeal by the Bacis Gold and Silver Mining Co., Ltd., of Durango, against acts of the ministry of foreign relations alleged to be in violation of Articles 14 and 27, Fraction 1, of the constitution.

The company declared that in 1896, while the Bacis river was under the jurisdiction of the Durango state government, it secured a concession to use the waters of the river in operating a power plant, and when the Bacis passed under federal jurisdiction it complied with all legal requirements to have the concession approved by the federal government. These included the waiving of the company's right to appeal to the United States government and an agreement to consider itself a Mexican corporation insofar as the water power concession was concerned.

When the foreign office refused to sanction the concession appeal was had to the supreme court. The court held, in effect, that:

Mexican citizens, by birth or naturalization, have the "right" to acquire land and water rights; to foreigners, under the court's interpretation of the state of mind which dominated the constituent assembly in framing Article 27, have not this "right," even though they comply with every legal requirement, since the article authorizes the state, through the foreign office, to decide whether it is in the public interest to sanction such land and water rights as may be petitioned for by foreigners and to sanction such rights, not because of any mandatory feature of the article, but as a "faculty, act of favor or grace."

World Court Week Aids Harding Plea

[By Associated Press] NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—World Court Week was inaugurated today. In compliance with a suggestion of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America, the week will be observed throughout the country by a program of education in support of the late President Harding's plea that America become a member of the World Court. Next Sunday, Armistice day, has been designated as World Court Sunday.

The Federated Council of Churches is seeking the support of the press, churches, civic organizations, schools, patriotic and fraternal societies in carrying out the week's program. The Council also is asking that during the week all voters who favor America's participation in the World Court write to their congressmen urging their support.

COPPER INDUSTRY WILL PROSPER SAYS BABSON

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. Nov. 2.—Copper securities at a new low for the year, reached during the last two weeks, have stirred the interest of the investor. Roger W. Babson's survey on the industry is particularly helpful in this connection. In a report of his findings issued today, the statistician pictures the situation clearly.

"The copper industry has for some time been rolling in the doldrums of low prices and depressed market conditions," says Mr. Babson. "From August, 1921 through 1922 and into the first quarter of this year, prices moved steadily upward. In March a temporary reaction set in and during the past seven months the trend has been markedly downward. Present quotations are on a par with those of the early part of 1922."

"Apparent domestic consumption, since the low points of 1921, has continued in an uninterrupted rise. About 700,000,000 pounds were consumed by domestic manufacturers during 1921; 1,100,000,000 pounds during 1922, and an estimate for the present calendar year places the amount in excess of 1,400,000,000, a figure closely approximating that of maximum war activity during 1918."

"The export situation is comparatively good and improving. Export figures have risen steadily from 504,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June, 1921, to an amount that will probably exceed 750,000,000 pounds for the present calendar year. This figure is in excess of any previous to 1912, and closely approximates the years immediately preceding the war."

"During the past seven months there has been no appreciable decline in manufacturing activity. Actual domestic consumption has had only a slight recession. Exports have held well. The basic reason for the present low market is found in the cleaning up of stocks of raw material held by manufacturers."

"The accumulation of such stocks inevitably accompanies a period of intense activity such as the mills experienced last spring, for it then becomes necessary to keep a larger supply on hand to insure uninterrupted operation. With these now reduced to about normal, fabricators must enter the market to cover new orders for copper and brass products. This basic reason for the present low point is in itself a strong argument for heavier purchases and consequent higher prices."

"All indications point to the fact that the stage is being set for a long awaited buying movement. Nearly every appreciable upward turn in prices has been directly preceded by an abrupt drop in shipments from the refineries to domestic mills."

Just Chatter

JOHN MULLIGAN "If I only had a million!" This seems to be one of the most popular wishes of the day. Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief, doctor, lawyer, merchant chief—all are pulling away at their wishbones of desire for practically the same thing. "If I only had a million!" Did you ever dream what you would do with a million dollars? It's a lot of money and undoubtedly great changes, either good or bad, would result through its sudden acquisition, for with it most of our hearts' desires could be attained. A few of us would rise to dizzy heights of fame sublime, accomplishing the great things we've always longed to do but couldn't because of our daily bread and butter task chains, while many of us, I'm afraid, with the prodding urge of poverty removed, would take the equally dizzy downward grade, ending with the bow bows. Those of us who are charitable might do a great deal of good but it's safe to say that we of the greater majority would just drift along with life's tides, only we'd have a yacht while the other fellow had a canoe. You could ask a thousand different people what they'd do with a million dollars and get a thousand different answers, yet more. I questioned a prominent business man. "A million dollars?" he laughed. "If I had a million dollars, son, I'd make it two."

I asked the man about town.

"If I had a million berries, Johnny, there'd be something doing. Rome in all its ancient glory would be nothing to the parties I'd give. I'd gather the fairest women, the rarest wines, the sweetest singers and swanlike dancers. Gather them all together and shout, 'Let's go!'"

A nice old lady told me that she'd start milk stations for poor little undernourished kiddies. One chap he'd settle down and marry. Another claimed he'd settle up and roam. A stenographer thought she'd sink the roll in California real estate, while a flapper confided she'd buy a theatre. A cop would put it into oil. An actor said he'd tour Europe. The last one said, "I really don't know. It's a helluva lot of money."

It is. It's a great game, too, dreaming what we'd do with a million. What would you do?

Princess Nagako Kuni, who is the betrothed of the Crown Prince Regent Hirohito and who will one day be empress of Japan, is said to be acquiring European culture as rapidly as possible. Her wedding promises to be a very elaborate affair.

THE SONG OF THE DINNER BELL

As long as they fry spring chicken,
As long as young squabs are born,
As long as my pulses quicken
At platters of fresh green corn,
Sing me no mournful numbers,
Chant me no solemn song,
As long as we've sliced cucumbers
I guess I can get along.

As long as we've baked potatoes
That fluff out like flakes of snow,
As long as we've sliced tomatoes,
As long as young turkeys grow,
Bring me no pale and pallid
Refrain from a funeral song,
As long as we've sweetbread salad
I guess I can get along.

What is the sense of spoiling
Life, with its bill-of-fare?
As long as we've mushrooms broiling
Where is the room for care?
Why should our troubles fret us,
Why should our hopes e'er fade,
As long as we've crisp head lettuce,
With mayonnaise overlaid?

Peace to thy sighing, brother,
See that thy tears are dried,
Get thee a steak, and smother
It with some onions, fried.
Turkey with oyster dressing,
Beef with its gravy brown,
Life? It is one grand blessing—
Dinner is served—sit down!

AT THE THEATRES

IN "HOLLYWOOD" ARE SEEN OVER 50 FAMOUS STARS

Photoplay patrons everywhere are going to be greatly interested in "Hollywood," a new James Cruze production for Paramount which has as its background—the motion picture themselves.

Imagine getting an intimate glimpse of behind the scenes at the big studios, seeing all the noted stars and directors at work, viewing the familiar scenes of the western film capital—the hotels, boulevards, studios, bungalows, bowl, etc. "That's what 'Hollywood,' which comes to the Gateway theater again today brings to the screen and with it a very enjoyable tale of a middle western family which goes to Hollywood and gets entangled with the great industry that has made the community as famous as Paris itself.

Several faces unfamiliar to the screen public will appear in leading roles which adds zest to the whole thing, but the "support" includes many screen notables of international prominence.

CLAUDE KING, STAR OF "SIX DAYS" ACTS ALL OVER WORLD

"Play in America Last" might have been the slogan of Claude King, chosen by Charles Brabin for an important role in "Six Days," the Elinor Glyn story coming to the T. D. and L. theater again today.

Before he came to New York to support Ethel Barrymore in "De-classe" he acted in almost every other country on the globe.

King has played in India, Burma, the Malay States, China, Japan, the Philippines, Egypt and the Mediterranean countries, Africa, Australia, Tasmania and New Zealand. In 1910 he joined Granville Barker's famous London theater. When war broke out he enlisted as a "Tommy" and came out a major. Then he was sent to the United States with the British Mission of the Red Cross, and liked the country so well he returned to act with Ethel Barrymore in "De-classe."

As a major of British artillery, Claude King fought in the Battle of Arras over the very territory that will be the locale of an important sequence of "Six Days." King plays Sir Charles Chetwyn in the picture version of Elinor Glyn's story, which Charles Brabin has produced for Goldwyn.

FOUR YEARS TO RUN DOWN GANG OF SWINDLERS

[By Associated Press] FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 5.—Texas' most famous man hunter, J. Frank Norfleet, is back on his Hale county ranch, satisfied with his years of criminal trailing. He set forth four years ago with the world as his field to get four men. Not one did he miss. They are either dead or in custody.

They had "lifted" $45,000 from him, so he claimed, and they were going to be punished. One by one they succumbed to his relentless pursuit. The fourth has just been arrested in Salt Lake City, and that explains why Norfleet has retired to his ranch, contented and happy at last.

It was while Fort Worth and Dallas—in fact all of west Texas—were in the grip of the oil boom that a clever squad of stock swindlers appeared in these parts and proceeded to lay traps for the unwary. One of the first to happen along was J. Frank Norfleet, Hale county ranchman and deputy sheriff. He formed a hotel lobby acquaintance with one of the swindlers. He was dazzled by stories of great gains made in stock speculation, and he speculated in a stock which yielded him several thousand dollars. He was persuaded to risk a little more and then a little more. Each time his wealth grew. So did his confidence in his new found friends. Eventually, he was persuaded to put up $45,000. Then everything blew up in the "stock" market and Norfleet's money and his "friends" disappeared.

The ranchman began his man hunt in 1919—or just as soon as he became convinced that he had been swindled. The net result was: Joe Furey, leader of the squad, died in prison at Huntsville, Texas, after having been convicted by a Tarrant county court. Norfleet himself arrested Furey two years after the commission of the crime and after chasing him 4,000 miles.

E. J. Ward killed himself in a Washington, D. C., jail after having been convicted of the Norfleet swindle and while he was awaiting trial in Washington on a similar charge.

Charlie Gerber is serving a term in the Texas state prison for swindling Norfleet.

W. B. Spencer is now under arrest in Salt Lake City, and wanted in Fort Worth for the Norfleet swindle.

Norfleet followed Furey through the United States, Canada, Mexico and into Europe. Finally, he overtook him at Jacksonville, Florida, and overcame him only after a struggle and fight.

The pursuit of Spencer continued four years. In one phase of it, Norfleet unearthed another gang of swindlers in Denver, a number of whom were sent to prison after sensational trials.

Norfleet was assisted in the long chase by his son. When they would lose his trail, they would return to the ranch for rest and recuperation. Then, striking another clue, they would start out into the world again. Norfleet cannot estimate the amount of money he has spent in the pursuit but feels that he has been well repaid with results.

BOOKS GOING TO LONELY GUAM

[By Associated Press] CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—The Island of GUAM is to have a public library established by the Junior Red Cross, co-operating with the American Library association here. An initial contribution of 400 books for children has been collected and shipped to the governor of Guam.

Since few of the natives of Guam except the school children can read English, children's books and a few elementary technical books are the chief need at present.

Sacramento Scenic Highway Completed

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 3.—With the formal dedication and opening to traffic of the new Sacramento county bascule bridge across the Sacramento river at Isleton on Saturday, October 27, northern California's great river highway, extending 42 miles from Sacramento to Rio Vista in Solano county, was completed. It is doubtful if any stretch of highway in the nation offers greater river beauty than this road winding with the Sacramento river, which it crosses three times before reaching its terminus by means of modern bridges, providing no interruption to the extensive river traffic.

Orchards and vineyards, canneries and packing houses, million dollar homes and quaint river towns, regular Mississippi river steamboat landings and rude bark landings for barges—all these are passed in a drive over the river highway. This stretch of the Sacramento river is known on the silver screen to every movie fan, only it appears labeled the "Mississippi," the "Missouri," the "St. Lawrence," the "Ohio," the "Hudson," or some other river, for it is the Sacramento river that is "shot" for nearly all river scenes appearing in western-made photodramas.

Representatives of the Sacramento chamber of commerce, which worked hard to have the last ferry eliminated on the scenic river route through the construction of this bridge, participated in the dedication ceremonies. Each leaf of the bascule lift is 113 feet long, and on the east end concrete-arched approaches, making the entire structure 671 feet long.

Window May Be Used as Center For Furnishings' Arrangement

By an Interior Decorator

Decorators are accustomed to group the contents of a room with reference to fixed objects which are known as "focal points." In a great many living rooms the fireplace is used in this way. In dining rooms the table is invariably a focal point.

The illustration shows a window serving. The result is a first touch of symmetry. The tables with their lamps carry out the symmetry and supply the practical consideration of use, which must be taken into account in any intelligent scheme of decorating. The lamps supply at night the light which in the daytime is available through the window to anyone using the davenport. The davenport unified and pleasing picture. It has the additional advantage that a person's eyes, in entering any room, are instinctively drawn first to the windows.

Several general principles are illustrated in the pictured grouping. The set-in bookcases on either side of the window exactly balance each other and give the port itself is placed in obvious harmony, as to position and size, with the window.

The overhangings at the window are arranged in relation to the lines of the window trim. The lace curtains extract the fullest measure of artistic appeal from the arrangement.

REGINA, Saskatchewan.—The world's record for large grain trains was shattered by the Canadian Pacific Railway recently. One mile in length, a monster train of 125 carsloads of wheat was operated over the line between Stoughton and Arcola; the contents of the car-weighed 5566 tons, which, with a tare of 2380 tons, made a total weight hauled by a single engine of 7946 tons. The great string of cars contained approximately 135,000 bushels of wheat.

QUEBEC, Quebec.—Part of the 15,000 feet of moving pictures taken by the Arctic expedition in charge of Captain Bernier, which has just returned from the northern regions, will be shown here shortly. Special arrangements having been made by a local organization to that effect. The pictures are to form part of the archives of the Dominion in Ottawa. They contain interesting indicents of the life of the Eskimo and typical scenes of the Northern land.
